Farmers Markets and the Community

Farmers markets support both healthy diets and healthy communities. In support of a vibrant South Sioux City, your business can join the South Sioux Farmers Market to:

- Connect growers and customers in a sustainable, local food system
- Keep food dollars circulating in our local economy
- Encourage commerce and increase sales and business in our community
- Build customers' sense of belonging and attachment to the community

Meet Our Vendors

Our local growers and producers will sell fresh fruits and vegetables, home-produced honey, pastured eggs, and more.

Your sponsorship will help us support new market gardeners like Mariah Fustos, who has been gardening with her family at the Siouxland Community Garden since 2011.

This summer, Mariah will open a farmers market stall for the first time. The Fustos family will be growing and selling top-quality specialty crops you can't find anywhere but the South Sioux Farmers Market.
